

LITERATURES OF SCIENCE:
Thirty Books for Great Reading

Angela Barrett, Ship Fever
Italo Calvino, Cosmicomics
Antonio Damasio, The Feeling of What Happens
Charles Darwin, The Voyage of the Beagle
Richard Dawkins, The Ancestor's Tale
Annie Dillard, Teaching a Stone to Talk
Frans de Waal, Our Inner Ape
Freeman Dyson, Disturbing the Universe
M.F.K. Fisher, Consider the Oyster
Temple Grandin, Animals in Translation
John Hay, Bird of Light
Jennifer Michael Hecht, Doubt
Bernd Heinrich, Ravens in Winter
Barbara Hurd, Entering the Stone
Evelyn Fox Keller, The Century of the Gene
Robin Wall Kimmerer, Gathering Moss
Primo Levi, Periodic Table
Claude Levi-Strauss, Tristes Tropiques
Peter Matthiessen, Far Tortuga
John McPhee, The Survival of the Bark Canoe
Gary Paul Nabhan, The Desert Smells Like Rain
David Quammen, Song of the Dodo
Stephen Pinker, The Blank Slate
Matt Ridley, Genome
David Rothenberg, Why Birds Sing
Gustaf Sobin, Luminous Debris
Sandra Steingraber, Having Faith
Tom Stoppard, Arcadia
Frank Waters, The Book of Hopi
Edward O. Wilson, Naturalist